INTERNATIONAL DESIGN IDEAS COMPETITION

Call for Entries

What's the role of public spaces in the contemporary city? How to create an inclusive and vibrant space where the community can be fully represented? How can urban design encourage social interactions between different users? How to upgrade existing public spaces by using an integrated and comprehensive people-centred approach?

These are some of the critical questions that the participants have to address in UrbanactionsHK. The competition is open to all the undergraduate students regularly attending courses in Architecture, Urban Design, Urban Planning, Urban Studies, Arts and Design. The competition encourages students to provide innovative ideas to upgrade four existing public spaces in the district of Central in Hong Kong. Entries can be made as a group or as an individual.
